Our membership embraces individuals and organizations engaged in the field of Case Management. Members are from diverse health and social service sectors, which include practice, education, research, quality improvement, and management positions.

Making Connections

Case Managers practice in a variety of settings and play a critical part in providing information and making recommendations on products and services available to clients and members of the entire health care team. As the only Canadian Network for Case Management, one of our goals is to connect Case Management professionals with tools and resources available as they facilitate care and services for their clients.
